Two Km too far

by Andrew Milne

Parents are protesting to the board of education over bus route changes which require students to walk as far as two kilometres to their bus stop or to school.

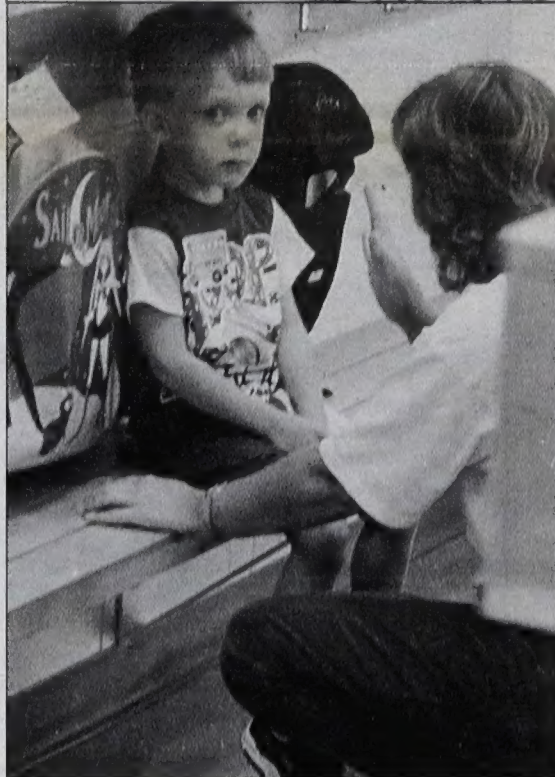

The new policy came into effect at the beginning of this year. The board says it put the policy in place as a cost-saving measure, following a $300,000 cut to their funding from the province.

Under the policy, buses do not travel side routes less than 2 km long, requiring students on those routes to walk to meet the bus at the main route.

Cuts made in the transportation budget reduce projected expenditures for 1996-1997 to $1.67 million, from $1.75 million for 1995-1996, savings of around $80,000.

The board also negotiated cuts to staff salaries and cut maintenance budgets to make up the shortfall.

Getting to know you

Anne MacDonald, Kindergarten teacher at Archie Stouffer Elementary School, welcomed students to their first day of school last week. While it was an exciting day for everyone, not all youngsters were sure this was the place for them. However, by day's end, even the youngster who chose to observe from the cloak room, left, joined the other students, after some reassuring words from Educational Assistant Anne-Marie Mills.

Chamber constitutional talks postponed

by Andrew Milne

A meeting held last week to amend the Chamber of Commerce's constitution had to be cancelled when not enough members attended.

To amend the constitution, the organization would have needed a quorum of 35 members. The Wednesday meeting was 10 members short.

Some of those present expressed concern over the low showing. Said one, "I would suggest that (manager Brian Dean) or someone else get a committee together and poll the membership as to why they're not getting out to the meetings."

Chamber president Connie Simms and Dean himself were reluctant, however, to comment, and not prepared to state the situation comprises a serious problem. Said Dean, "It could just be the time of year. We really don't know."

The proposed amendment would have changed Article I, Section Two of the Chamber's constitution to expressly provide for fundraising activities. The proposal was made in support of a Chamber plan to raffle off a cottage to raise money for local hospital funds.

The amended section would have read, "The object of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce Incorporated shall be to promote and improve trade and commerce and the economic, civic and social welfare of the County of Haliburton. Such intentions shall afford the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, Inc. the opportunity to raise funds to relieve and assist the conditions related to the social and civic welfare of the citizens of the County of Haliburton."

The chamber's fundraising plan has been in the news for some time now. The organization is proposing to raffle off a $100,000 cottage, raising, should all the tickets be sold, $200,000. The proceeds from the raffle were to be directed to the Haliburton County Hospitals Fund.

As part of the chamber's arrangement with the Ontario Gaming Control Commission however, the organization has to raise $140,000 itself, to post as a letter of credit, prior to the raffle, allowing the Commission to guarantee the cost of the prize, plus taxes. The chamber asked the county to provide the credit, but was refused.

The constitutional amendment has been tabled to the Chamber's annual general meeting, at the end of October. A date for that meeting hasn't been scheduled.

Restructuring will be discussed at September County Council meeting

by Jerry Grozelle

Haliburton County Warden Murray Fearrey has said that September's meeting of County Council will include some dialogue regarding restructuring. The Restructuring Committee is still waiting on a report from the Roads Committee about how a single tier local government system would impact the largest single item in the budget. Roads expenditures account for 60 per cent of the county's budget.

"The problem is the Provincial Government hasn't told us what we're going to be responsible for," he said. "Will we be responsible for social services -- education?"

Last spring, County Council had expressed the need for public input regarding restructuring. It was hoped that public meetings could be held during the summer, to give seasonal residents the opportunity to make their concerns known. The process has taken longer than expected, which could decrease the input from taxpayers who spend only the summer months in Haliburton County. If proceedings drag on for more than a few more weeks, input from the "Snowbirds" may also be reduced.

The Restructuring Committee will meet September 17, at which time the Roads Committee report is expected to be completed. That meeting will take place at the County Building on Newcastle Street in Minden at 7 p.m. All Restructuring Committee meetings are open to the public.

The September County Council meeting will be the following day at the same venue.

Fearrey explained that the committee doesn't want to rush into a decision until all the facts are known.

"We're still in the process of fact-finding," he said. "This is for the long term. We have to make a rational decision; that's the goal."

Gibson will continue to co-ordinate Bioregional Atlas Project

The Times reported in the August 12, 1996 edition that Trent Bioregional Atlas Project co-ordinator Anna Gibson was finished with Trent's program this year. Though Gibson is moving to York to continue her Masters, and is no longer eligible for funding under the Environmental Youth Corps program, she will be continuing as project co-ordinator, with the details of the funding still to be worked out. Gibson's course of study at York will also involve the project.

Summer finally found us and August was a very pleasant month, even with all the rain and thunder storms. This August was 1.1 degrees (2 degrees F) cooler than last August. It was hard to notice the difference. There was more than the normal number of thunderstorms during the month, including a severe storm with heavy hail on August 15. The storm was very localized with other parts of the county missing the hail. Some of the hail was the largest we have seen in years.

Trivia: At any given time, 2000 thunderstorms are booming around the world.

Parents fight for return of school bus service

Don Schlosser are currently driving six-year old Darcy to school, rather than require he walk. Don is on vacation this week, and has just picked up his son. But next week, when he goes back to work, it's going to get more complicated. Don is considering having his lunch hour moved to 3 p.m. to 4 p.m., so he can pick up his son himself.

Says Kelly, "We'll be walking initially. Once the winter hits, I don't know what we'll do. I had asked whether they couldn't do winter busing only, something for the lousy weather. Right now we can cut through behind the arena, and that's not so bad, but once the winter hits, it's not safe to walk through there."

The Schlossers live in a subdivision on the north side of the Gull River known as Stoufferville, close to the edge of the village. In the winter, with the shortcut un navigable, Darcy would have to walk the length of North Water and then along Main Street to the school. That, says Kelly, is a long way for a six year old. She expects she'll have to walk with him.

Says Kelly, "Darcy is disappointed, because he really did like riding the bus. Right now he's not too bad, 'cause Daddy's driving him. But once Daddy doesn't drive him, he and I have to walk. My problem is I have a two year old who will have to walk along with me in the middle of winter, and then have to walk back. And he's not too thrilled with the idea."

They're not entirely happy with the board's response. They've been trying to get to talk with someone in administration, but haven't heard from anyone yet.

The Schlossers say they first moved to their subdivision, partly because of the bus route. They're not the only ones there who are less than pleased with the situation either. One neighbour, says Kelly, has had to rearrange her daycare so she can pick up and drop off her child. Residents of the subdivision have started a petition to the board, to back off on the cuts and pick up their children closer to their doors again.

It's not the only petition the board is facing. In Haliburton, Riverside Drive residents, from an area along the Drag River east of the village, are also protesting.

Jan McMaster, one of those parents, with a house at the far end of Riverside, says for her it's primarily an issue of safety. She has one 8-year old in the school system, and she's just not happy with having her walk 1.7 km along narrow, winding Riverside, to a common bus stop at the United Church.

"I just can't picture children and cars sharing Riverside Drive," she says. "That's why I started this."

McMaster says she feels it should be an issue for the entire county, but was advised she should concentrate on changing her own situation, and that's what she's trying to do.

"I do have some sympathetic ears with the board," she says. "There are a few of them who have tried and taken the time to talk to me. Some of them don't have the time of day. (Director of Education) Brad Saunders actually came and had coffee with me last week."

The McMasters are driving their daughter for now, while they try to work things out. "I would like to help the board find the money," she says, "in a different line of their budget. So at the time I went into it I was thinking I wouldn't be driving. Now I'm expecting we'll probably be driving them the rest of their school careers."

The busing cuts were approved in the entirely bizarre atmosphere that prevailed in late April, when, weeks from the deadline for the budget, the board was first told cuts would be in the order of $1.2 million. A scramble ensued, the board meeting late into the night, negotiating with employees' groups, and proposing ever deeper cuts.

MPP Chris Hodgson's intervention somewhat eased the situation, capping the grant reduction at $300,000, but the announcement came only three weeks prior to the budget deadline, with official confirmation days later. The board was able to back off the more desperate proposals. The busing cuts, however, remained.

Board chair Wendy Ladurantaye says she understands parents' concerns, but that the board doesn't really have a lot of room to move.

Says Ladurantaye, "I don't think there's been a real incredible outcry about it. I think most people understand and are willing to try to help us out here. It's not something the board wants to do or enjoys doing. It's a necessity. We're stuck. And now it's a community kind of problem."

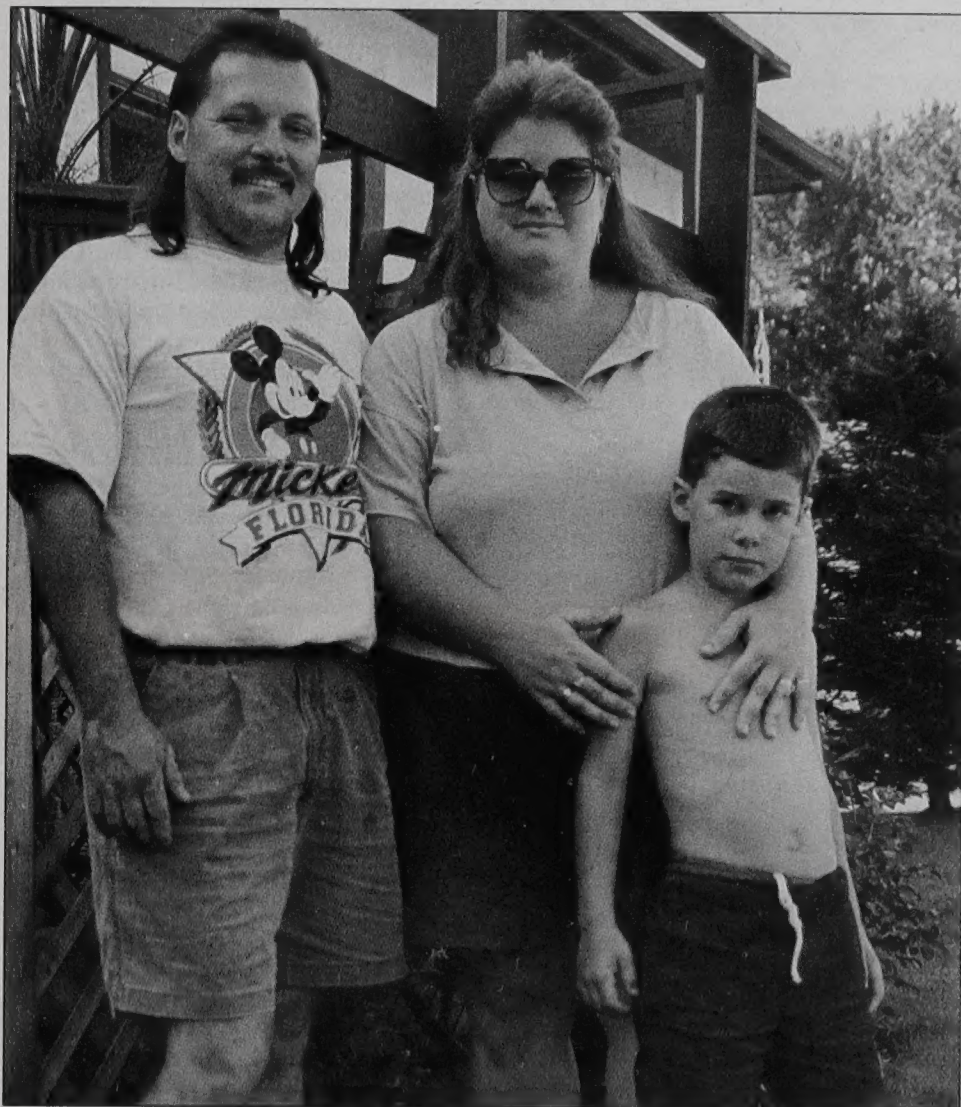

Ladurantaye said, as well, that she expects the new system is going to need some work, and she's glad the board is getting feedback.

"I believe we'll likely have ongoing concerns about different bus stops," she says. "I've followed a bus around and made some suggestions, and I believe those are being followed up. That will be ongoing... Hopefully, you just always try to improve your system and make it better."

As to parents' suggestions that cuts be made elsewhere, she says, she doesn't see where that could be. "We're at the point," says Ladurantaye, "where there aren't a lot of options. My biggest fear is that there may be more cuts coming, and if that happens, I don't know where we can take those from."

"To have to make little kids walk?" she says. "That does distress me. I have no difficulty with people taking responsibility for their own children. I have no problem with communities learning to support each other the way they used to. I think that's been a long time coming. But to have to rush into this bothers me. Because you don't have time to plan properly and come up with alternative solutions... People have said to me we've known this was coming for a long time,

INTERNET: Getting up to speed with the latest technology

Andrew Milne

It's internet fever time again.

A host of related and not-so related proposals for internet access in the Haliburton County region are again under desk lamps throughout the Highlands. This time around, it's a series of government-funding opportunities under consideration.

The Haliburton County Development Corporation is one player. The HCDC is looking at the possibility of applying for funding under the Community Access Program (CAP), offered by Industry Canada.

Said HCDC director Andy Campbell, "We're examining it. We're looking at the program. We have a steering committee together... We've met several times with Industry Canada and some local people who are thinking it's a good idea. It's still in the preliminary investigation stages, but the deadline is October 31, so we'd have to make a proposal by then."

A second proposal under consideration, by local businessman Peter Wessner, concerns grants available from the provincial Ministry of Trade, Tourism, and Economic Development (MTTED), under the similarly-named TAP (Telecommunications Access Partnerships) program. Wessner, who runs one of the local cable systems, says he is very enthusiastic about the possibilities.

Says Wessner, "This is money meant for rural communities, like ours, and the possibilities for throughput with the cable system are fabulous... I'm really excited about this. This would be wonderful for our community, and yes, I intend to submit a proposal."

The nature of the coaxial cable, through which cable TV signals travel, is such that wider 'bandwidths' (a measure of the amount of data that can pass through the system at once) are possible than for standard phone lines. Wessner says the local system should be able to accommodate the 512 kbps cable modem standard. Data from the cable system would then be funnelled through a two-way satellite uplink, to a point near the T1 internet backbone in the US. Wessner says he has already inked an agreement with a satellite communications company, to arrange for the uplink.

He also hopes to provide conventional telephone-based service.

The Minden economic development committee, Minden 2000, is also known to be considering a proposal to Industry Canada.

Eric Lilius, a Cranberry Lake area resident who uses the net heavily, and who has been lobbying for a little more action on the part of local groups towards securing the CAP grants, says he is happy to know finally that there is some activity. He's a little less happy, however, that there hasn't been a little more public involvement in the decision making.

Says Lilius, "I was a bit bothered about the lack of inclusivity that was going on, and I'm really not sure how much community participation there has been... One of the reasons I first sent the letter to the newspaper was to kind of beat the bushes a bit, and the development corporation did get in touch with me after that... But it would have been nice to see a public meeting at the beginning of this, just to find out who you're dealing with and to look at the CAP proposals."

Lilius, like Campbell, feels there is a whole range of possible benefits better net connections can offer places like Haliburton County. He points to recent development trends in New Brunswick, where a province-wide upgrade to the communications net has greatly improved throughput, along with some interesting growth trends related to the telecommunications industry.

Says Lilius, "I think it's important for Haliburton County to sell itself as a global destination. The more references there are to Haliburton in terms of the tourism aspect, the better. It also has the potential to attract light industry."

Beyond that, he says, there are the less tangible, but still entirely valuable benefits the net has to offer isolated communities, where library and education resources are often relatively thin. He uses the internet heavily, for education in the broader sense. His hard drive is rapidly filling with the eclectic blend of information the web has to offer, and friends are dropping by to pick up email from list servers to which he subscribes for them.

"The interest is there," he says. "People could use this. It would be nice to see them a little more involved."

Haliburton County already has internet access available locally — a service Lilius describes as excellent. Halhinet, a Haliburton area business, has been a commercial internet service provider for more than a year now, providing conventional dial-up SLIP/PPP access through telephone modems. SLIP and PPP are flexible internet protocols supporting, among other things, the graphical world-wide web browsers which have driven development of much of the more commercial and popular features of the internet.

SLIP and PPP access is also available via a range of national level service providers, who often provide 800 services for the actual connection. But such service often comes at a premium, and is hardly local in character. As Lilius points out, the main advantage of the CAP proposal, and the point as he understands it, is to improve and ease local access to the net. The trouble with the big commercial providers is they are expensive, and that can be a barrier for locals who would otherwise like to be connected.

Now, says Lilius, what he'd like to see, and what funding like the CAP program offers, is internet service that is more accessible to the county at large, and better communications infrastructure to make it happen. Bell has just announced significant upgrades in the phone system technology on which so much of the information travels, and that already brings such a goal a little closer. For Haliburton County, he says, pursuing such developments could well realize the real promise of the technology: bringing the world a little closer together, and bringing Haliburton a little closer to the world.

Says Lilius, "If we can really conceive of ourselves that way — and we really have to think of ourselves in a different way — there's no reason that can't happen... Just imagine how attractive this place might be to say, someone from Hong Kong, looking for somewhere to set up a business."

Is it money before safety?

but we didn't know, how much, and how soon. When you've never had a lot of fat in your system, it's really hard to find places to cut. The province says share busing systems, but who do we share with in Haliburton County? There may be options we can work out in the future, but those aren't in place yet."

Says Schlosser, "To me, it's just not fair. It's money before safety, as far as I'm concerned."

Says McMaster, "People who aren't even parents, who don't even have children in the system, have approached me and said 'Keep it up', so that's encouraging... I have sympathy for the board. I know they have a tough job. This is just one piece of a much larger picture for them. But then in my heart I know that the best hasn't been done for the safety of the kids. I guess I have to feel I've done my best for the safety of the kids. I mean, I could be driving down Riverside to take my daughter to school, and I could hit another kid. It's not safe."

Area wildlife benefits from local DU projects

The Haliburton-Minden Chapter of Ducks Unlimited Canada is holding its third annual fund-raising dinner and auction on Friday, September 27. This year's venue will be the Wigamog Inn.

The event will feature a live auction, silent auction, pyramid raffle, grand slam raffle and a general raffle.

Ducks Unlimited is offering a variety of limited edition items, including wildlife prints, sculptures and carvings, knives, decoys and furniture, to name a few.

In addition to the Ducks Unlimited fare, numerous products and services have been donated by local (and not so local) businesses and individuals.

Ed Araquel, whose home and studio is on Highway 121 near the North Kashagawigamog Lake Road, is the feature artist for this year's Haliburton-Minden Ducks Unlimited Dinner.

Born in the Philippines, Araquel came to Canada in 1965. He studied at Art Instruction Schools in Minneapolis, Minnesota. One of his paintings was chosen for the school's permanent collection.

Araquel is one of only two Canadians in the Directory of American Portrait Artists. He has garnered many awards. His work has been the subject of solo exhibitions in Hamilton, Toronto, Waterloo, Collingwood and at the Rail's End Gallery in Haliburton.

His original watercolour painting of Head Lake at Haliburton will be one of the highlights of the live auction.

Ducks Unlimited Canada has several projects in Haliburton County. All activities in the Haliburton Area to date revolve around the Beaver Pond Management program. One water management proposal, the 250 acre wetland at the upper end of Marsh Lake is under preliminary consideration. The beaver pond landscapes are implemented in phases over several years, usually three or four phases; a "phase" corresponding to a year. The landscapes that have been assessed and currently at various phases of implementation are:

Haliburton Forest and Wildlife Reserve

This 55,000 acre landscape is entering the final phase of activities being undertaken under the BPM program. Seventy-five ponds will be managed, whether via nesting structures, dewatering and basin regeneration, beaver food plot establishment or by simple water management devices.

Sherborne

These lands, encompassing nearly 60,000 acres and formerly part of the Leslie M. Frost Centre, are now administered out of the Minden Area office of MNR. 108 of a total of 318 wetlands on the property shall be managed under the various components of the Beaver Pond Management program. This landscape is entering Phase III of the implementation process.

Hindon

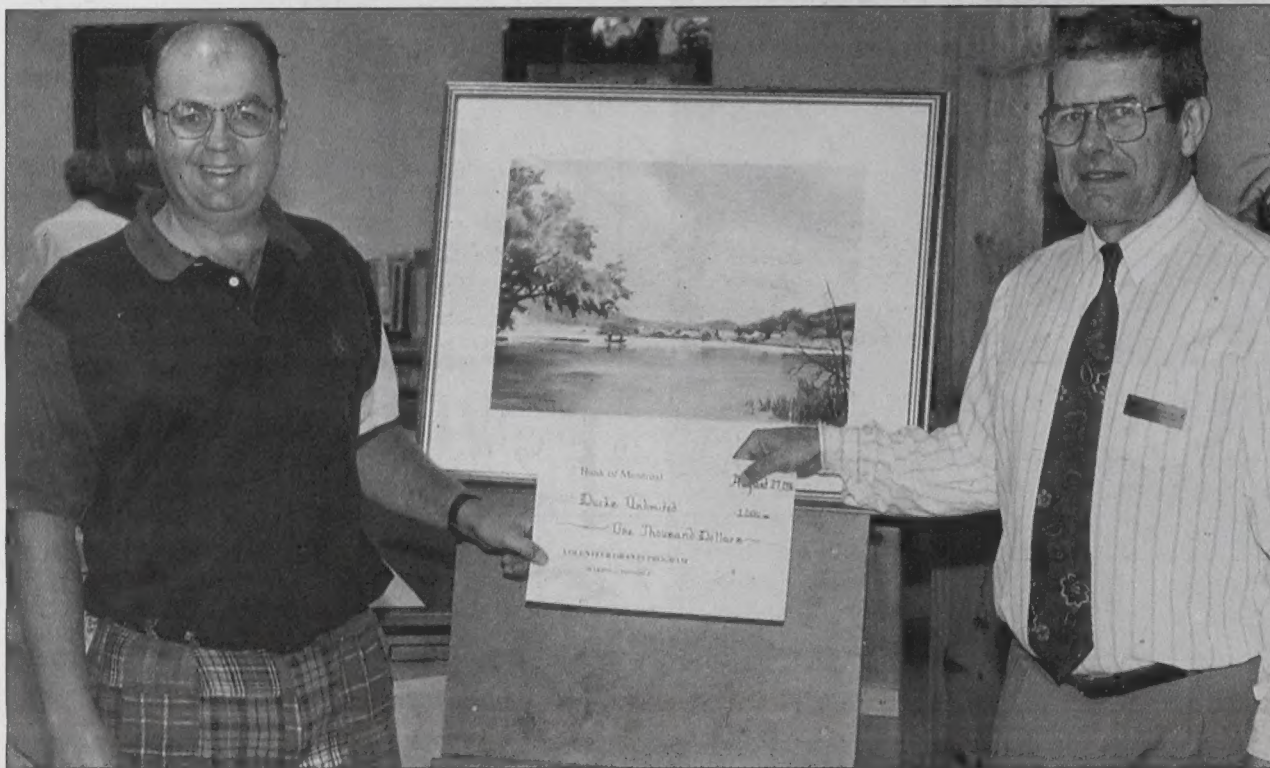

Nearly 40,000 acres of landscape containing 207 beaver ponds were assessed in 1994. Forty-six ponds have management potential under the BPM program. This project is entering Phase II in the implementation process.

Anson

This landscape, comparable in size to the Hindon landscape was assessed during the late spring and early summer of 1995. A total of 250 ponds were investigated. The implementation plan for this landscape is not yet completed. Phase I is planned for implementation within the next twelve months.

Woodland Ranch

This 5,500 acre privately owned landscape was assessed in 1994. Thirty wetlands have been identified for management prescription. Phase I implementation, intended to complete the project, was scheduled for the fall/winter of 1995/96.

Connectivity

The world is at your fingertips, if the keyboard on your desk is connected to a modem, connected to an internet supplier. In the past few years many people have discovered the wonder awaiting them on the internet. With the click of a few keys, internet users can be connected with resources and individuals on the other side of the globe. As has been pointed out on numerous occasions, that connectivity is a two-way experience.

We endorse this latest flurry of activity to improve accessibility for rural areas, such as the Highlands. The proposals will expand the reach that Highlands' internet users have, increasing the speed and versatility of the resources at their disposal. It will also ensure that the rural part of the country remains competitive and, in fact, an attractive place for individuals and businesses.

The full potential of the internet has yet to be realized and it seems that any time someone is able to clearly quantify what, in fact, it is, the horizon is expanded even farther. Without the infrastructure in place however, the Highlands will not be able to take full advantage of those benefits. It is encouraging to see moves being made to ensure that doesn't happen.

The last draw

Readers will notice these pages look somewhat different this week. The change was prompted by the retirement of editorial cartoonist Gil Parcell. As he explained, graphically, in the last edition, after close to 50 years at the drawing board, he is stepping back for a break.

We will certainly miss his weekly contribution to these pages and we know the readers will too. Many have already expressed their regret over his announcement. Gil always had the ability to put just the right twist on things as he skewered the passing scene with his pen. As is often the case, the cartoon or caricature conveyed much more than could ever be accomplished with words.

We know the readers join us in wishing Gil an enjoyable re-retirement and thanking him for his many years of providing a glimpse at the lighter side of this crazy world.

Drawing conclusions

Editor:

Forty-eight years of toil and tension does seem like a reasonable time to accept the suggestion to rest your arthritic neckbone. Over the past few years, when we picked up our copy of The Times, there was a great anticipation of what event would be captured by cartoonist Gil Parcell. As his work has looked at both the serious and lighter sides of our local authorities, he has enriched us all. Please Gil, enjoy your journey into another stage of retirement... that is why you moved to Minden, wasn't it??

Firemen's games

Editor:

Freda and I had an opportunity to observe the show put on by our firemen recently at the fairgrounds. It was nice to see the young men competing in their fire drills as well as seeing their wives and families who were present, with perhaps another crop of firemen growing up.

I have had the privilege of working with some of these men's fathers as a volunteer ambulance driver, during a past era. I felt the best portion of the show was the part that was for real. A Code-4 came in—a car was upside down in the ditch at the Gelert corner. There was a scramble for the firemen's pants, coats and equipment; the lights and sirens came on on the pumper and van carrying the "jaws", and they were gone. I felt an excellent response time had been obtained, perhaps better than if they were professional firefighters.

These young men have jobs of their own—this is their way of banding together to provide a public service at a fraction of the cost of a full-time crew on the township payroll. However, carrying a volunteer pager

Re: Haliburton Board of Education Busing Issue:

For a few months now, other parents and myself have been working on trying to get our Board of Education Trustees to reconsider their decision to cut the transportation budget.

As you know, many children are negatively affected by this decision. Many children are walking up to two kilometres on new "Routes" that are just too dangerous.

This decision has put many of our county's children at risk. Even if you don't have children in the system, you will have to share the roads with these children who are walking to school or their new bus pick-up site. You may be the one who hits a child!

I intend to continue to fight for the safety of our children. Anyone, whether a parent of a school child or not, can contact me if they would like more information or if they would like to be involved. Maybe we can help the Board find alternatives to cutting busing!

A little something to smooth the way

Have you noticed that our country is slightly out of sorts?

Nothing mortal. No grievous bodily wounds or lethal wasting diseases. Just a general...malaise, like a gentle but persistent hangover. Canada is under the weather.

Fortunately, I possess the remedy to get the Great White Giant feeling "regular" again.

Bribery.

Sure. Bribery. Call it "kickbacks" or "unlisted service charges". Bribery is the grease that makes the world go round and Canada is 'way overdue for an oil change.

Other countries understand the importance of bribery. In Spanish-speaking countries it's called "La mordida" — the little bite. Waiters in French restaurants expect to receive a "pourboire" — a little something to buy themselves a drink. In Arab countries it's known as "baksheesh". I don't know what they call it in India, but I do know that petty bribery is so rampant in Indian daily life that one newspaper in New Delhi publishes a "bribe index" listing the cost of getting a phone installed, your gas hooked up or your house wired for electricity.

That's...the cost through "unofficial channels" you understand.

In Canada we'd call it extortion and then we'd call the cops. That's not how it works in the rest of the world. Elsewhere, the bribe is a perfectly acceptable way to cut through bureaucratic morass (and to supplement often paltry pay cheques).

I once lived in Madrid for a spell and received my mail through General Delivery at the main Spanish post office.

Or attempted to. It was kind of frustrating. Every day I would go down to the post office and ask the clerk—a harried looking wiry little man—for my mail. Every day he would look at me with sympathetic spaniel eyes and shrug, murmuring "No hay nada, señor."

After a few weeks of this, a Spaniard caught my eye as I was turning from the wicket. Eloquently he rubbed his thumb and forefinger together, glanced at the clerk and winked.

Aha.

The next day I showed up to collect my mail and pushed a 50 peseta coin across the counter ahead of my request. The clerk picked up the coin, disappeared into the back room and returned with a bushel-basket of mail that had "just come in".

For a hundred pesetas he'd probably have delivered it to my door.

It doesn't always have to be money that changes hands either. North American soldiers serving in the Korean War crossed a lot of palms with Chiclets. Little Canadian flag lapel pins will open a lot of doors in Asia. If in doubt, stuff a couple of cartons of cigarettes in your luggage and watch how swiftly things get done overseas when accompanied by a package of Marlboros.

There's a protocol that goes with handing out bribes. It's important that you do it frankly and openly, not like some drug dealer palming a vial of crack. Remember that in other cultures there is nothing shameful about the bribe. It's actually a kind of compliment — an "appreciation" for services rendered.

Would it work in Canada? Hey, it already does. You tip your bartender don't you? And the pizza delivery guy. And what is the GST if not a bribe — albeit involuntary — designed to swell the coffers of Ottawa.

But that's extortion on a grand scale. The bribery I'm talking about is not nearly so "gouge-y". I'm talking about voluntary donations to the government clerk, the hotel chambermaid, the security guard and yes, even the cop on the street — any of the myriad functionaries you run up against every day who can make your voyage through life stormy or smooth, depending on their attitude.

Come on, Canada — bribe someone today! The gravy train is leaving the station and if we want to be on board it's time to dig into our change pockets.

(Which reminds me Mister Editor, if you could see your way to give this column a prominent position on page one, you'll find a "charitable donation" in your In Basket tonight.)

Wetlands are a valuable resource to wildlife and people

WETLAND VALUES

Since 1937, Ducks Unlimited has led the crusade to conserve North America's threatened wetland resources.

Ducks Unlimited has invested more than $500 million to secure or restore over 800 projects in Canada, comprising more than 17 million acres. Since coming to Ontario in 1974, Ducks Unlimited has spent over $40 million to conserve over half a million acres of wetlands.

Wetlands are the world's most productive ecosystems; home to hundreds of species of wildlife including waterfowl, songbirds, mammals, fish, insects, reptiles amphibians as well as a great variety of plants. But wetlands benefit more than just wildlife. Wetlands also serve an essential purpose to human beings; they act as sponges to gradually release water, a function which results in a balanced watershed that prevents the extremes of drought and flood. And with the issue of water pollution on everyone's mind, it is important to recognize that wetlands effectively filter pollutants, thus cleansing water destined for rivers, lakes and streams.

In Ontario, Ducks Unlimited carries out a number of programs designed to secure and restore wetlands:

■ The Beaver Pond Management is a program which involves enhancing the natural cycle of beaver ponds on a broad scale landscape basis.

■ Ontario Land CARE (Conservation of Agriculture, Resources and the Environment) involves assisting farm operators and rural landowners to conserve their soil and water resources while improving the environment for wildlife and for people.

■ Water Conservation Projects involve the use of water control structures to restore wetland functions and improve habitat.

■ The Upland Habitat Program involves the improvement of critical uplands surrounding wetlands used by nesting waterfowl and numerous other wildlife species.

■ Education of the conservation ethic is a priority in Ontario and children are the focus of the Greenwing Program.

Ducks Unlimited raises funds to carry out this extensive habitat work through a network of banquets/auctions held in over 150 communities across Ontario. Fund-raising dinners are organized by dedicated grassroots volunteer committees, made up of individuals who support the results-oriented and scientifically-based work of Ducks Unlimited.

Ducks Unlimited prides itself on the partnerships it has formed with other nongovernment organizations, landowners and the government. Ducks Unlimited is not an advocacy group; it is out in the habitat getting the work done.

Kawartha West High School Football League

Junior Redmen look strong

by Jerry Grozelle

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Redmen junior Football team is expected to outpace last year's record of two wins and four losses in Kawartha West competition.

Last year's team was "hurting for size", as head coach Bruce Griffith explained. But that won't be a problem this season.

"The team is big and strong this year," Griffith said. "The rookies from last year now have some experience."

A total of about 50 players turned out, giving the coaching staff plenty of talent from which to choose.

The junior team has a lot of potential," said assistant coach Gary Brohman, who will be a sort of rover coach, helping out with both the junior and senior teams.

Griffith said he has about seven third-year players, from whom he's expecting good things. Lineman Wayne Kernohan, tackle Nathan Koz and running back Jason Henry are among the bigger Grade 11 players on the junior football team.

Griffith termed quarterback Mike Morissette a born leader and added that quarterback Matt Reid has a great arm, which should give the team a strong aerial attack. Tailback Devon Dart and lineman Darren Gilbert are also expected to add strength to the squad.

The team is going to Sir Wilfrid Laurier University in Waterloo to watch a university game. After that game, the local squad will take on St. Mary's from Woodstock in an exhibition game under the lights on the Astroturf.

Seniors face challenge

by Jerry Grozelle

Haliburton's senior High School football team may not be the powerhouse it has been for the past 10 years, but there is still a nucleus of experienced players.

One of those experienced players is Mike Bradley, whom assistant coach Gary Brohman opines "is the best [high school] football player in Ontario."

Veterans Jamie Swinson, Ryan Ladurantaye, Ryan Reesor and Darnell Gilbert are also expected to be role models for the younger players.

"We may not be 6 and 0 this year," Brohman said. "But it's a great game and we'll be playing for the love of the game."

Compared to the HHSS junior football team, with 50 players trying out, the seniors don't have as much manpower from which to draw. Fewer than half as many senior aged players (24) have joined the training camp.

Don't expect the senior Redmen to give up their Kawartha West supremacy without a fight.

TOUGHENING UP: Blocking and tackling practice are among the exercises the Haliburton High School football players have been working on in preparation for the 1996 football season. Both of Haliburton's teams have excellent potential to be contenders.

DEMONSTRATING TECHNIQUE: Junior field hockey coach Sheila Thompson demonstrates the finer points of the game while team members look on.

Junior field hockey team should be a contender

Sheila Thompson is expecting an "interesting" season from the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School junior girls field hockey team. She has seven or eight second-year players and about 20 first-year recruits from which to choose an 18-girl squad.

Thompson has a dilemma, albeit one that a coach would prefer to have. She must cut 10 players from the roster before the start of the season on September 26. She's not looking forward to telling 10 girls their services won't be required, but she'll readily admit that it's better to have too many than not enough.

The junior girls finished second at Kawartha last year, narrowly missing first. Haliburton was the only team to beat the team that claimed the Kawartha title.

"We have some really keen girls," Thompson said, adding that a couple of the rookies are showing some real potential.

"I get to groom the rookies for Kit (senior coach Kit Pizzezy)," Thompson said with a chuckle.

Like the senior team, the junior squad is in need of goaltenders. Field hockey officials held a clinic in June, for Grade 8 girls who would be attending HHSS this fall.

"The interest was phenomenal," Thompson said.

This will be just the third year Haliburton has had a junior team and Thompson has her sights set on first place at the Kawartha level.

"We will have a pretty strong group of players," Thompson said.

Junior soccer team numbers low

Even though only 11 players have joined the ranks of the Haliburton High School junior boys' soccer team (as of Friday), coach Paul Klose says he's excited about the coming soccer season.

Soccer practice started last week and as first-year coach, Klose is looking forward to the challenge.

Among the "fresh faces" of the Grade 9 players, Klose said he sees some good soccer skills. He admits he would like to have a few more players before the season gets under way.

The juniors and seniors will be conditioning together and Klose sees that as an opportunity for the younger players to learn from the experience of the veterans, who have a few more seasons of competition under their belts.

Only three or four of last year's squad have returned. Klose said that Cameron Leonard was a leader last year and he hopes Leonard will continue with that leadership through the 1996 season.

WORKING TOGETHER: Members of the junior and senior HHSS boys soccer teams took to the field at J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School for a combined practice session Friday afternoon. Both teams are preparing for the start of the 1996 soccer season.

Seniors build on solid nucleus

Prospects for the senior boys soccer team from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School "look good", according to coach Peter Bertelsen. "We had 20 players out for the first practice (last week)," he said. "We have quite a few returning players and a few moving up from junior."

Bertelsen said he has a good, solid core of players, with a good attitude.

"We have several players who could take a leadership role," Bertelsen said.

He's expecting a good season from Rich Simmons, a talented Grade 13 player with experience.

The team will be practicing about three times a week, with the first game of the season scheduled for Wednesday, September 18 in Haliburton. The Lindsay Collegiate Spartans will provide the opposition.

Seniors aim for Kawartha berth

About 20 potential players have shown an interest in the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School senior field hockey team.

Coach Kit Pizzey says the goal is to get to the Kawartha championships.

The format has changed from last season. In 1995, only the top three teams from Kawartha West advanced to the Kawartha division. This season the top four teams will have a shot at the Kawartha title.

Last year's team finished fourth in its pool, one position shy of advancing.

With just five games in the Kawartha West league schedule, there won't be much room for error, but Pizzey seems confident her team has a chance to better last year's record.

One positive note is the return of Jess Wallace. She recently returned from a year in Australia and her experience will boost the team. She continued to play the game while she was Down Under.

"We're excited to have Jess back," Pizzey said.

If there is an Achilles Heel it will be in the goal tending department. Among the grads the team lost were the experienced goalies. One of last year's juniors has offered to play between the pipes. But her experience is as a forward. Pizzey would be relieved to have another goaltender, if for no other reason than to give the solitary volunteer a break.

The season will open Thursday, September 26 on home turf for both the senior and junior HHSS girls' field hockey teams.

Minden Senior Curling Club members enjoy a day of golf

by Dave McAdam

To kick off the 1996-97 curling season, Minden's Seniors Curling Club members, with some new ones, took to the greens and the fairways of beautiful Blairhampton Golf Course on September 5, intent on showing the Arnold Palmers and Greg Normans a thing or two about driving, chipping and putting.

Some of us actually withered our way around the nine holes as old Sol not only shone down upon us, he cooked, parboiled and fried some of us who teed off around high noon. Nevertheless, a few of the hardy ones were able to concentrate on their games long enough and keep their minds of the cool bubbly awaiting them after the ninth, to sink their balls in less than regular intervals and come off the links with low scores of 34.

The tournament was played under the rules of "best ball", and the best, best, best balls belonged to players on the following teams:

First place - Captain Larry Lougheed, with Theresa Carroll, John Warren and Walter Stegmaier.

Second place - Captain John Thomas, with Ursula Dymott, Betty Trapp and Eric Stearns.

Third place - Captain Tom MacDonald, with John Wachsmuth, Ebbie Bishop and Iris Drewell.

Closest to the hole - Men's, Larry Lougheed; Ladies', Florence Stanley.

Longest drive - Men's, Earl McDonald; Ladies', Betty Harrison.

Later in the afternoon, golfers and non-golfers alike retired to the Curling Club lounge, where the Committee had prepared an excellent meal. The menu included hot beef-au-jus on a bun, fresh corn, salads, and dessert, which included cake, squares and fruit salad. Doreen Spencely and her kitchen crew are to be complimented, with one exception.

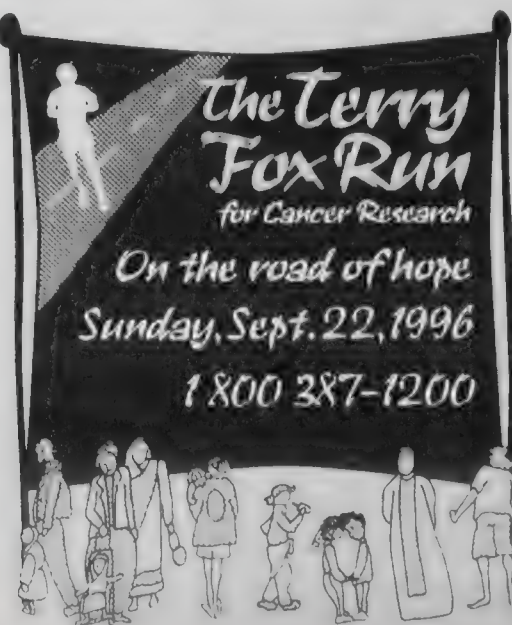

We always thought Gail was the one in the Grainger family who came up with the best corn. But the committee put Todd in charge of the boiler for some reason.

When the multitude was well fed, Helen Rice and secretary Muriel Harrington moved onto the prize presentations.

TSWreport

A dry week plus a greater than normal flow from the Haliburton area lakes resulted in the biggest one-week (eight days) drop of the summer of 6.5%. At 61.8%, these lakes are still about 4.5% higher than normal for this date. A flow reduction has been made from some of the lakes so that the continuing decline should be less than 6.5% next week.

(Report issued September 4)

First, of course, was presentation of the Dave and Billie Shuyler Golf Trophy, which was presented by Billie Shuyler to the Larry Lougheed team, for its excellent play. Prizes also went to the second and third place teams, as well as the players longest drive and closest to the hole.

Other prizes, presented to the club by past president and member Ed Pettinger, and by Blairhampton Golf Course, went to various members through the luck of the draw process.

All in all, the day proved great, due, in large part, to the fraternity of the members and also to the great work and time by the dedicated members of the committee.

Things are beginning to happen at the curling club, which are again pointing in the direction of another great year of curling. Some of our members are assisting members of the regular club in the early preparation of the sub ice surface.

A wine and cheese membership night is being planned for Thursday, September 19 at 7:30 p.m., to which members and prospective members are cordially invited.

Also, team conveners are meeting and skips' meetings are being arranged where team drafting will take place. On October 15, 16, 17 and 18, paid up members will be permitted warm-up and practice time on the rinks, barring technical difficulties beyond our control. It would be best to check closer to that time to be certain this opportunity prevails.

Do enjoy the curling season and as is said as we take to the ice, "good curling."

Harold Parkes leads charge to Casino Rama

Bonjour!

September is here and so is the nice weather. Some of the hottest days are being enjoyed. It is unfortunate our summer residents had to go back to the big, bad city and miss this. However, there are lots of weekends coming up for their pleasure.

Harold Parkes' Casino Rama bus trip turned out to be a great success with a full house (!) attending. We even had a couple of jackpot winners. It was a long but enjoyable day. Harold tells me that the next trip will have adjusted, shorter times. One thing to keep in mind, every hour on the hour, there is a free shuttle to the port of Orillia or a downtown stop for shopping or looking around. It is a break from winning all that money and a bit of easy quiet. The shuttle returns every hour on the half hour from the port and every hour on the quarter hour from downtown. They also have a boat shuttle, but it was down when we were there. The Orillia Legion is just 200 yards away from the port drop off point.

Coming up

September 11: La Pot Luck Dinner, 6 p.m. followed by La General Meeting, 7 p.m.

September 14: Our famous pub crawl with stops at Gravenhurst, Bala and Bracebridge, including dinner and entertainment.

September 15: Decoration day at Minden Cemetery.

September 22: Variety Craft Sale at Branch 636, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

September 16-21: Our first annual Legion Week, with lots of activities.

September 18: Trivia Night with your host Keith Welbourn. This is a real fun night. Some teams are resorting to uniforms for intimidation purposes, (I think).

September 21: Mini yard sale at the Branch.

September 22: District F Drumhead Service at Branch 129 in Haliburton.

The branch extends the very warmest wishes to two of our valued and hard-working comrades, Tony Samarillo at Sunnybrook and Gord Martin at Haliburton Hospital. All my best for speedy recoveries to my comrades.

Member profile

This week my profile is of Francine Newton, one hard-working, dedicated lady.

Francine was born December 23, 1947, near Essen, Belgium, the fourth of ten children. She weighed in at a whopping two pounds and was not expected to live, but even back then she was a survivor.

Her family emigrated to Canada, arriving by ship in Halifax on March 15. From there, it was a three day train ride to Toronto where they met the farmer with

by Alan (Cub) Coneybeare whom Francine's father was to work. The family moved to Enniskillen where they stayed for three months until her father purchased a small home in Hampton. There were only two rooms in the house so the first order of business was to add onto the house to accommodate the five children. The construction included a garage with a two seater.

Several years later they moved to a farm they had purchased. It was quite a step up for the family because the farm house had 14 rooms and indoor plumbing! They lived about two and a half miles from the school and there was no bus pick-up for anyone less than three miles away.

Following her years at the elementary school, where Francine won the Bowmanville Legion Public Speaking Contest trophy, she attended Courtice High School. Graduating from high school, she was hired by Bell Canada and was an employee of the company for 22 years.

She married Ralph in October 1967 and lived in Hampton. They made the move to Minden in December 1991.

The couple's son, Christopher, was born December 29, 1971.

Francine writes, "Eventually my interest in politics and volunteer work started to take over most of my time, so I resigned from Bell. I was on the executives at all three levels of politics and served as president of various associations for several years. I was very involved with the church and served as treasurer of the UCW for 15 years. I was on the Durham Regional Board for the CNIB for 15 years, the last six as president. I served on the Community Planning Board for the Town of New-castle for six years and was the acting post master in Hampton for six months. I worked for H & R Block for a season and still do returns if I am asked. I am currently the provincial Returning Officer for Durham East, a position I have held for six years."

Since moving to the Minden area, life has slowed somewhat for Francine, but she remains active, helping out where she can. Francine concludes, "I want thank Cub for selecting me to be profiled in this column. I have read the ones in the past and there is always something of interest to discover about the individuals. Thanks."

Joke time

This month's joke was given to me by Jack S., who probably thought that I wouldn't print it....Jack S. and Dorothy A. went out for a nice day and dinner at Casino Rama. When the day was over, (this could mean something), Jack took Dorothy out to a gourmet chip truck and paid for dinner (hot dog with the works!). However, Jack insists he went deluxe, because the tube steak was a Jumbo!!

'Til the next time....thanks!

Society offers legal help

The Law Society of Upper Canada can help you find a lawyer. Lawyers participating in this service will provide up to a half an hour free consultation. During that time you can find out:

- how the law applies to your situation.
- how to use the law to solve your legal problem.
- how much a lawyer will cost.

A customer service representative will answer your call and ask some questions. When your legal problem has been identified, you will be given the name and number of a lawyer. Call the lawyer's office to arrange a half hour free consultation. You must tell them that you are calling as a result of the Lawyer Referral Service.

By the end of the consultation, you should be more aware on your legal options and how much it would cost to have a lawyer work for you.

Your call to the Lawyer Referral Service is free from anywhere in Ontario by calling 1-800-268-8326.

Do you have a question? Do you require support or assistance in accessing services? We can help. Contact your Haliburton County Information Centre Inc. Staanworth residents enjoy even more summer Staanworth Court residents welcomed summer in September and have delayed "Fall house cleaning" for a few more days or weeks.

New friends welcomed into our home are Mr. and Mrs. Greig and Mr. Pogue.

We all gathered for a luncheon to say goodbye for a while to Diane Greaves our tenant Service coordinator, who will soon be welcoming a new baby into her household. Dorothy Ash prepared tasty sandwiches for the occasion and Jean Cowen made a lovely baby's quilt.

Katie Parker, our resident athlete, attended Actifest '96 in North York. Over 1800 seniors took part from 39 Ontario districts. Katie was on the lawn bowling team with Bruce Armstrong and Lew Tompkins. The seniors attending from our area had a great time and were happy with the effort, put into the organizing of the events, by Ross Farr.

Our darts players from here in the Court will need to put in a few more hours of practise on the board if they hope to enter a team in the next Actifest.

NOTICE TO PARENTS OF GRADE 10 TO OAC STUDENTS High School Hepatitis B Vaccination

Free hepatitis B vaccination clinics will be offered in all high schools this school year. It will be the only time these clinics will be offered to high school students.

Students in grade 10 to OAC can receive the three injections of hepatitis B vaccine at school. The first shot is in October/November, the second shot in November/December, and the third shot in April/May.

Information sheets and clinic forms will be given out to students in early to mid-September. Parents must sign the clinic form either in the consent section or the refusal section. The forms must be returned to the school within one week of receiving them.

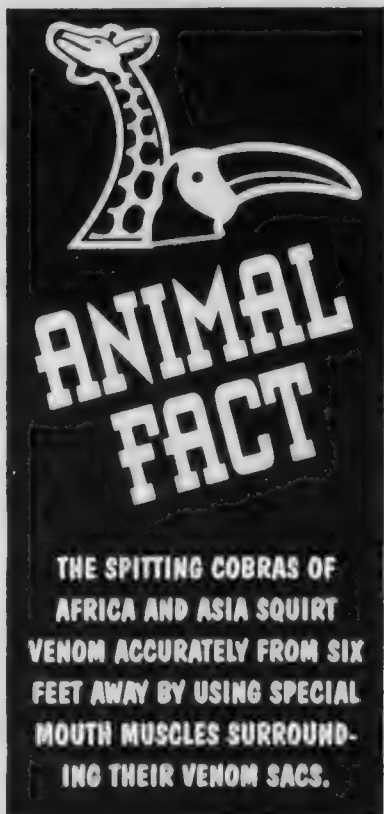

If your teen does not bring home the forms by mid-September, remind them to do so or collect a form from your local Health Unit office.

Questions? Please read the information package that comes with the consent form. If you still have questions, call your local Health Unit office.

Around the County Town

by Gord Graham (call 286-6506-- FAX 286-3460)

You can tell that the economy is improving. Two more raises and your take home pay will equal your deductions.

The Fibromyalgia Syndrome and Chronic Fatigue support group will resume its monthly meetings starting Monday, September 9 at 7 p.m. in the home of Bill and Sybil Roodenburg, Highway 35, south of Minden. If you need more information please call Michelle at 489-1999 or if long distance 1-800-959-9098.

Snowdon Township has, from time-to-time, stray dogs that obviously are lost pets. If you would like a dog give them a call at 286-2657 Monday-Friday from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. and if there isn't an animal available, they will place your name on a waiting list. They currently have a Walker-Beagle mix doggie that would just love a new mommy and daddy.

The Minden Library Committee will be meeting again on Monday, September 16 at 10 a.m. in the Library.

The folks at the Legion in Kinmount held a 50-50 draw on Saturday August 31 and Pat Andreassen, from Whitby, won $247.50. Way to go Pat!

The Minden Women's Institute, now in its 90th year, is having its next meeting in the home of Doris Grant, County Road #2 (Deep Bay Road) at 2 p.m. on Wednesday September 18. They welcome all interested ladies to join in the friendship and programmes.

You are invited to join the happy group at Gelert Community Centre for a lively evening of cards. The fall session starts September 17 at 7:30 p.m.

Don't forget that the seniors' bowling in Minden and Carnarvon has started up again for another great season. Putting it off one more day just won't do. Give them a call - you'll love it.

Some sad news. Another busy lady has died recently. Eleanor Crane was involved in many things in our Village - with lawn bowlers, seniors shuffleboard and Stanhope seniors winter shuffleboard. Perhaps of more importance was that Eleanor had been President of Victoria East Women's Institute for the past 5 years, having just stepped down last May. She was also a great worker with the Gospel Church in Haliburton and a long time member of the Norland Women's Institute. She was a great lady and will be missed by her family and her large number of friends and fellow workers.

Club 35 members had fun playing euchre on the holiday Monday and Stan Cline held the most lone hands, Hazel Gregory and Frank Campagnolo the high scores, while Dolly Kelly won the 50-50 draw, (she's not telling). Other winners were Leola Wheeler, Hal Burton and Norm Lee. Be sure to join them each and every Monday at 7:30 p.m. - everyone is welcome and partners are not required.

Seniors bid euchre played last Tuesday in the Minden Legion gave first to Walter Ackerblade, second to Ruth Kellett and third to Ida Young. Ida's son, Scott, had the hidden score. It must have been awfully hot because no one had any moonshots; and that's a first in a long long while. Meet each Tuesday at 1:30 p.m.

Contract bridge is played weekly at the Fireman's Hall in Stanhope. The group needs the hall to handle the 8 tables playing. Last week Vange Croucher was first, Wynne Hansen second, Mary Stevenson third and Fred Heald fourth. Join them Tuesdays at 1 p.m. Partners are not required.

The Stanhope Firehall is a busy place for on Wednesdays they hold bid euchre games at 7 p.m. On August 28 they held a special draw in Lottie Ruttan's name, just to show how glad they are that she is back. Hope you're feeling better Lottie. That night they had 3 moonshots and Ken Wallace was first with 292, Muriel Harrington 266, Marcel Rousselle 264, Gala Stamp 261, Pearl Foster 257 and Marion Farr 256. On September 4 they had 4 moonshots and Pat Scadden was first with 317, followed by, Mary Pearson at 301, Elsie Henderson 293, Jim Skinner 292, Lottie Ruttan 259 and Edith Burch 257. Come, join them Wednesday evenings.

The Minden Legion is also a busy place. At 7:15 p.m. Thursdays people play euchre there. Winners from August 29 were Lila Mitchell and Marcel Rousselle with most lone hands; Thelma Francis and Milton Fletcher holding the high scores; Vivian Anderson and Iris Taylor the low scores. Other prizes were distributed to Pat Rousselle, Jean Scadden, Pat Scadden and Gala Stamp.

HEALTH CORNER

Mark Twain, on health issues, said that the only way to keep your health is to eat what you don't want, drink what you don't like and do things you'd rather not. Sound sort of familiar even in this day and age?

Well, forget that, and remember Terry Fox Day, Sunday, September 22 from 8-10 a.m. in Minden. Maybe you'd rather not, but you know deep down it's good for you and the cause that Terry stood for. You have two weeks to train in either walking, jogging or cycling. Start slow; do less than you think you can do at first. Your rate of advance will gradually accelerate to the 20 minute optimum that you want to strive for. Check out this corner in the July 22 and 29 issues for more good tips.

The Campaign may be over but...
